Occupation: Former vice president of the United States, former U.S. senator from Delaware

Response: I've fought for voting rights since I first got involved in politics, helping to secure several extensions of the Voting Rights Act. But in 2013, the Supreme Court ripped the heart out of those voter protections. As president, I'll enact legislation to restore the full force of the Voting Rights Act, and my Justice Department will challenge every one of the new Jim Crow laws that are now curtailing people's right to vote. I'll also boost state funding for secure voting with a paper record, and for better information-sharing. I'll fight for automatic and same-day voter registration. And I'll make sure that any country or group that seeks to interfere in our elections faces real and serious consequences.

Response: 1. Keep PA Safe-The Commonwealth Attorneys Act states one of the main roles of the AG is criminal prosecutions. This would be my top priority. The AG works with local DAs and law enforcement to keep PA residents safe, including a strong commitment to addressing drug trafficking and the opioid crisis. 2. Put People Before Politics-Restore the AG's Office to following mandates set forth in the Commonwealth Attorneys Act and perform lawyering for the people of PA versus using the office for political gain. 3. Protect the Mentally Ill-Establish a Blue Ribbon Panel of experts from PA to examine the treatment of the mentally ill, address the current state of mental illness, and more. The panel would issue a Report suggesting structural changes.

He is also a small business owner and union member.

Response: I have always thought of myself as a hard working voice for all people, and have served with the trust of those I represent in Harrisburg. Now, I believe it is time to use my voice for all Pennsylvanians by holding our government accountable. If you believe as I do, that our government needs to be held accountable for its spending, that our government must have an advocate for taxpayers, and that our government must work for all Pennsylvanians, then please consider supporting this campaign. goals.

MICHAEL LAMB
 Allegheny County
www.lambforpa.com

Occupation: Pittsburgh City Controller

Education: BA Penn State University MPM Heinz College, Carnegie Mellon University JD Duquesne University School of Law

Qualifications: As Controller since 2008 I have protected residents from waste, fraud and abuse of their tax dollars. My audits have uncovered millions in savings and I have provided unprecedented levels of transparency into city finances. I also led the effort to reform our county into a home rule community.

Response: The Auditor General is our 1st line of defense against public corruption. I plan to address that in part by bringing unprecedented levels of transparency to the Commonwealth. I have developed several tools of transparency for greater public engagement into the issues of public finance. I plan to bring those tools to the Commonwealth. During time of crisis it is important to recognize that some will see an opportunity for fraud. I have developed a plan to address these concerns including testing for price gouging, addressing misinformation, protecting whistle blowers and monitoring stimulus spending. Pa's largest cost is education. I plan to devote significant resources to hold accountable our charter schools and all institutions of learning.

Occupation: CPA. Required by law to resign my appointed Auditor General Department appointed position to run for Auditor General.

Education: Drexel University B.S. Business of Administration - Major Accounting Certified Public Accountant since 1991

Qualifications: Served 29+

years in leadership roles in the administrations of the current and prior 3 Auditor Generals. Initially hired as a field audit supervisor. After 4 years promoted to Department's Technical Manager. After 3 years, Appointed Audit Bureau Director; serving as Director for 5 Audit Bureaus.

Response: 1. Addressing the impact of significant staff shortages, as a result of continual legislative budget cuts, on the department's ability to properly and timely complete 5000 mandated audits annually. At the time of my hire, the Department had 850 employees statewide and was down to 392 at November 1, 2019, while still being responsible for the completion of 5000 audits annually. 2. Preventing the fraudulent use of PA's COVID-19 Economic Stimulus Funds and Small Business Loans proceeds by helping to ensure that these funds are properly awarded to PA's intended recipients. 3. Protecting the lives of PA's most vulnerable citizens-our children, our elderly, and mentally challenged.

ROSE 'ROSIE' MARIE DAVIS

Occupation: Certified Public Accountant

Education: BBA in Accounting; BS in Political Science

Qualifications: I have an accounting degree and I am a Certified Public Accountant with 34+ years of audit experience. My expertise includes managing and conducting financial, operational, compliance and internal control reviews of Federal, State and Local government agencies and not-for-profit organizations.

Response: 1. The top priority is to save the PA taxpayers roughly $600,000 dollars of extra salary cost because as the next Auditor General, there will be no need to hire another CPA to direct the audit team because I have the direct CPA experience to handle the technical job. 2. Addressing public school district funding inequality. I plan to review public school district funding from a top down approach. 3. A significant portion of State taxpayer sponsored programs and services are outsourced to 3rd-party contractors who provide substandard and inadequate services. I will conduct more performance and effectiveness audits of 3rd-party contracts. Like: The share ride program for elderly and vulnerable citizens is on top of the list.

Response: Healthcare, Education and Violence. These are all informed by the theme of my campaign which is accountability and transparency and the understanding that the taxpayers end up paying more if we ignore the problems that perpetuate inequality and injustice. I will take on Big Pharma to lower costs on life saving medicines with a focus on Pharmacy Benefits manager to increase efficiencies. I will protect and increase education funding to make sure our students have the best education in safe and healthy environments. I will focus on ending violence including sexual harassment/violence, advocate to end nondisclosure settlements as well as address gun violence by giving lawmakers the data to fight the NRA and pass tough new gun laws.

Education: M.A., International Political Economy and Development, February 2004 Fordham University, Bronx, New York B.A., International Affairs, May 1999 The George Washington University, Washington, D.C. Semester abroad at Universite de Paris IV (Sorbonne)

Qualifications: For 20 years, I've held governments to account in some of the world's worst dictatorships. I led & managed federally-funded projects with budgets up to $44 million with large teams across multiple offices worldwide that underwent numerous audits, which found that they were efficient and effective.

Response: My priorities are education, healthcare, and criminal justice reform. Education audits account for a third of this office's work. I will evaluate the discrepancy between the standards and funding for public schools and charter schools, which are often held to lower standards, harming our students on the taxpayers' dime. Healthcare costs continue to rise, especially for seniors. I will look at rising drug costs and nursing home treatment of seniors, to ensure that Medicare/Medicaid dollars are spent well for our most vulnerable. For criminal justice, I will examine inefficiencies created by focusing on punishment over rehabilitation leading to high recidivism rates, a truly inefficient and ineffective use of our tax dollars.

Response: 1. Work to have a more transparent government. For example, I will work to end political loopholes like the "honor system" that allows state agencies to keep high-dollar, taxpayer funded contracts hidden from the public. 2. Bring in subject matter experts to audit the progress and performance of any new and expensive initiatives and projects to determine how and if tax payer dollars are being spent wisely. 3. Upon taking office, I immediately banned the use of middlemen to win investment contracts and introduced Treasury's first-ever conflict-of-interest policy and Chief Integrity Officer. In addition to restoring integrity, we've created the Keystone Scholars program, which gives at-birth college and career savings accounts to every child born or adopted in Pennsylvania after January 1, 2019. Furthermore, we fight to hold Wall Street accountable to taxpayers, including through legal action when necessary and as trustees for our public pension systems.

Response: President Obama said that the most important title is not president, it's citizen. Voting is the most fundamental part of being a citizen and we should make it as easy as possible for folks to vote. This is why I voted for the new vote-by-mail system, funded the switch to paper ballots and (because of COVID-19) voted to change the date of the Primary Election so folks did not have to choose between voting and their health. Moving forward, we must allow same-day voter registration, pay our poll workers more and invest in civics education. There are certainly other reforms that can be made to encourage voting (such as pre-registering of 17-year-olds who will be 18 at time of election), and these should be considered in concert with efforts to stop voter fraud so that we can ensure the integrity of our elections.

Access to the ballot box is one of the most important rights for a citizen.

Response: The system we are using needs more confidentiality and transparency for example a receipt given to the voter so they know exactly how their vote was registered. Also give more voters access to the computer because the ballot is less cumbersome on the screen. Counties need to have more appointed watchers in the election services department to be sure the paper ballots are processed correctly.
