PENNSYLVANIA

JUSTICE OF THE SUPREME COURT

Description of office: The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania is the highest court in the commonwealth and the oldest appellate court in the nation. The Supreme Court's administrative powers and jurisdictional responsibilities are vested with the seven-member court by the Pennsylvania State Constitution and a collection of statutes known as the Judicial Code. The justice with the longest continuous service on the Supreme Court automatically becomes chief justice. Administratively, the courts within the Unified Judicial System are largely responsible for organizing their own staff and dockets; however, the Supreme Court has several committees and boards responsible for writing and enforcing rules for judges, attorneys and litigants to ensure an efficient and fair judicial review. Annually, the seven justices receive over 3,000 requests for appellate review.
Term: 10 years
Salary: $244,793
Candidates were asked:
Pennsylvania's three co-equal branches of government — executive, legislative and judicial each act as a check on the power of the others. In practical terms, what does this relationship of checks and balances mean to you?

DANIEL MCCAFFREY
Philadelphia County
www.judgemccaffery.com
Occupation: Judge of the Pennsylvania Superior Court
Education: Temple University School of Law, J.D., 1991 Temple University, SCAT, B.A., 1988 Father Judge High School, 1982
Qualifications: 32 years as an attorney, trial and appellate court judge, tried more cases and presided over more litigation than any other candidate. Highly Recommended by the PA Bar, the only Veteran on PA's Appellate Courts. Judge, Court of Judicial Discipline, supervising judge for PA wiretap applications.
Response: In its most general terms, as it pertains to the question, the court has a duty to ensure the Constitutional rights of the people are appropriately applied and protected. I would describe my approach to constitutional interpretation as "Living Constitution" – meaning that the constitution was intentionally drafted using broad language to allow its concepts to evolve with changing societal conditions. As to my approach to interpreting rules, legislation & statutes, I would describe myself as a textualist in that I attempt to give a common sense meaning and will give the intent to apply a reasonable analysis to interpret any ambiguous word or provision.

CAROLYN CARLUCCIO
Montgomery County
www.judgecarluccio.com
Occupation: Court of Common Pleas Judge
Education: Dickinson College, Widener University School of Law
Qualifications: First female President Judge of the Montgomery County Court of Common Pleas serving in the Criminal, Family, and Civil Court Benches. Montgomery County Chief Deputy Solicitor, Director of Human Resources, Chief Public Defender, Assistant United States Attorney.
Response: Our system of checks and balances is vital to our democracy and should be carefully guarded. We must ensure one branch does not overstep its authority. For the Executive Branch, it could be excessive Executive Orders which can circumvent Legislative powers. For the Judiciary, it is legislating from the bench which can also circumvent Legislative powers. The Judiciary also has the duty of ensuring that Legislative and Executive actions do not overstep their constitutional roles. It's critical that the Judiciary only applies the law as it is written in the Pennsylvania and United States Constitutions. Inappropriate actions taken by the Executive branch and even the Judiciary takes power from our legislature which is closest to the people.

JUDGE OF THE SUPERIOR COURT

Description of office: The Superior Court is one of Pennsylvania's two statewide intermediate appellate courts. This court, established in 1895, reviews most of the civil and criminal cases that are appealed from the Courts of Common Pleas in the commonwealth's 67 counties. The Superior Court consists of 15 judges. The president judge is elected to a five-year term by his/ her colleagues. A large number of appeals flow to the Superior Court from the trial courts. Generally, appeals are heard by panels of three judges sitting in Philadelphia, Harrisburg or Pittsburgh. The court often is the final arbiter of legal disputes. Although the Supreme Court may grant a petition for review of a Superior Court decision, most petitions are denied, and the ruling of the Superior Court stands.
Term: 10 years
Salary: $230,974
Candidates were asked: What criteria would you consider in deciding a case that could affect longstanding precedent?

JILL BECK
Allegheny County
www.JillBeck.com
Occupation: Commercial litigator & appellate attorney
Education: B.A. in Criminal Justice – The George Washington University (cum laude graduate); J.D. – Duquesne University School of Law (cum laude graduate)
Qualifications: Jill has practiced in every area the Superior Court hears, has practiced in the Superior Court & appellate courts across the country, and spent 10 years on the other side of the bench as a law clerk – 6 on the Superior Court, 4 on the Supreme Court – where she drafted over 500 decisions.
Response: The decision to overrule precedent, particularly longstanding precedent, should not be taken lightly. Factors to consider include, but are not limited to, the correctness of the prior reasoning, its consistency with related precedent, changes in the law & society subsequent to the decision, & the level of reliance on the precedent by the legal system and the public.

TIMIKA LANE
Philadelphia County
www.judgelaneforpa.com/
Occupation: Judge
Education: Howard University – Bachelor of Arts, Rutgers Law School – Doctor of Law (JD)
Qualifications: Elected in 2013 to the Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas and immediately assigned to one of the busiest trial divisions in Pennsylvania. Judge Lane has presided over thousands of jury and bench trials and authored over 100 judicial opinions. She currently serves in the civil division.
Response: Presiding a case in which in theory could affect a long-standing precedent must be weighted carefully and with respect to the past precedent. Long standing precedents are not without fault, and throughout history the judicial system has seen changes occur to long standing precedents for better and for worse. It is through this evolution, as society changes and laws are adapted to those changes that consideration of both the changes in the legal system and society should be considered, as well as aforementioned respect to the long standing precented and whether its reasoning still stands solid within the judicial and societal systems.

MARIA BATTISTA
Clarion County
www.BattistaForJudge.com
Occupation: Attorney/Executive
Education: Clarion University, B.S.; Westminster College, M.Ed.; Ohio Northern University, J.D.; University of Pittsburgh, Ed.D.
Qualifications: 15+ years experience in Civil, Criminal and Administrative Law; Former Assistant District Attorney; Former Attorney with the Governor Corbett Administration; Served as an Administrative Hearing Officer where I presided over hundreds of hearings and issued hundreds of administrative decisions.
Response: Stare decisis, a Latin term which means "let the decision stand," or "to stand by things decided," is a central tenet of the American legal system. This doctrine highlights the importance of precedent in our legal tradition. Applying precedent to the particular facts of a case is a way to provide predictability and consistency in the law. While I cannot speak directly about how I would rule in any case that may appear before me, precedent may be used as a guide, as well as the law as it has been written and the particular facts of a case. In some instances, the issue of constitutionality may be raised by the parties.

HARRY F. SMALL JR.
Westmoreland County
www.VoteJudgeSmail.com
Occupation: Judge
Education: Grove City College Class of 1988 Duquesne School of Law Night School Class of 1997
Qualifications: 14 years as a practicing attorney and nearly 9 years as sitting judge in Westmoreland County
Response: My guiding principle when deciding a case is the text of the constitution and the intent of a statute when applying that statute in the course of a case. Precedent or stare decisis is critical in this review. Stare Decisis is critical in providing predictability and stability to the courts. I leave open the possibility that a court must at times correct previous encroachments by the judiciary relative to constitutional review and deviation of the facts. I believe it it is a heavy burden to demonstrate such encroachments when weighing prior precedents.

JUDGE OF THE COMMONWEALTH COURT

Description of office: The Commonwealth Court is one of Pennsylvania's two statewide intermediate appellate courts. This court, established in 1968, is unlike any other state court in the nation. Its jurisdiction generally is limited to legal matters involving state and local government and regulatory agencies. Litigation typically focuses on subjects such as banking, insurance, utility regulation and laws affecting taxation, land use, elections, labor practices and workers compensation. The Commonwealth Court also acts as a court of original jurisdiction, or a trial court, when lawsuits are filed by or against the commonwealth. The Commonwealth Court is made up of nine judges. The president judge is elected to a five-year term by his/ her colleagues. Generally, appeals are heard by panels of three judges sitting in Philadelphia, Harrisburg or Pittsburgh.

MATT WOLF
Philadelphia County

Occupation: Judge
Education: B.S. Political Science, LeMoyne College, J.D., Loyola University School of Law, numerous judicial education training courses.
Qualifications: The only sitting judge in the race. 25 years of civil rights trial experience. 5 years plus of judicial experience, with a majority of that as a Supervising Judge. 20 years of military experience, 17 as an Army JAG, awarded Bronze Star Medal, service in Iraq and Afghanistan.
Response: It depends on the case, the facts and the law. This question cannot be answered in vacuum. There are antiquated decisions in Common Law that are long standing precedent which call to be overturned such as the Supreme Court's 1896 Plessy v. Ferguson decision which upheld the legality of racial segregation in America. It took 58 years for that case to be overturned in Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka. Some long standing precedent should be overturned such as the "separate but equal" line of cases as an example. Other long standing precedent should be respected, particularly as it relates to the preservation and recognition of fundamental constitutional rights.

MEGAN MARTIN
Cumberland County
meganmartinforpa.com/
Occupation: Attorney
Education: JURIS DOCTOR, May 1994, Widener University School of Law, Harrisburg, PA; BACHELOR OF ARTS, June 1991, University of Delaware, Newark, DE
Qualifications: Megan has served in all 3 branches of our state government & as an attorney for the US Navy, where she was both a litigator & transactional attorney. Megan has received endorsements from law enforcement, business & labor groups, along with the PAGOP & is recommended by the PA Bar Association.
Response: Judges should approach every case keeping in mind their oath to support, obey & defend the Constitution. The Constitution should be their North Star. Judges should apply the law as it was written by the General Assembly. Judges should not be influenced by public opinion or pressure; they should follow the law. Precedent exists to maintain the rule of law. Defending the rule of law helps promote a world without chaos. It gives consistency to our judicial decision-making process. It ensures that individuals in similar situations are treated alike rather than being subject to the personal views of a particular judge. I respect the Constitution & rule of law. I respect precedent. I will continue to do so as a judge on our Commonwealth Court.

Qualifications: Contract management, budgeting, construction, project management, operational decisions, coaching, volunteering Response: My primary focus is on quality of education. This comes down to teacher retention and curriculum enhancement. Today, we face massive teacher shortages, with good teachers leave the profession every day. It's essential that we retain our effective educators. We must also set a curriculum that not only meets state minimum standards, but that also supports future needs.

Republican

DANELLE ROY
Education: Bachelor's Degree in Healthcare Administration
Occupation: Med Lab Tech
Qualifications: Conservative in values and financial responsibility. I have experience in training, finding solutions and decision making.
Response: Our schools should be a safe place for all children. No one group should be put over or under another, all should be working together, treated equally and with respect. Politics does not belong in the classroom; it is not what our children need to succeed. I intend to keep the classroom for learning and not for political agendas.

LANCE M. TITTLE
Education: BA DEGREE – ACCOUNTING & INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS URSINUS COLLEGE 1987
Occupation: RETIRED
Qualifications: 45 YEARS ACCOUNTING EXPERIENCE IN MANUFACTURING AND MATERIAL PROCUREMENT CONTRACTS
Response: It's important to put families first to ensure all parents have the right to know what curriculums are being taught. All children have the right to privacy and the most fundamental right to make sure all children are safe at their schools. School safety should be a high priority for all residents and parents deserve to know their children are safe.

PAUL DEEBEL
www.facebook.com/PaulDeebelforSLSD
Education: BS Chemical Engineering, Bucknell University
Occupation: Sales Manager
Qualifications: Community member active in parent and student advocacy groups.
Response: We need to ensure that all students are getting the attention and resources they need to succeed academically. We need to make sure the curriculum is focused on the academic needs of students without the interjection of politics and divisive ideas. Our classrooms need to a place where parents feel safe that their students are being educated, not indoctrinated.

JAMES PICA
m.facebook.com/p/100091534475398/
Education: Bachelor's Degree in Athletic Training and Sports Medicine
Occupation: Disability
Qualifications: Great at organizing and simplifying information. A member of the community for over 30yrs, I can relate to the needs it faces Response: Hiding information about children from parents and keeping the district financially responsible. Children and parents need to be brought together in all manners of life by better use of the tools already in place. Taxes need to be the last resort to financial issues. Better planning and care of projects needs to happen to make sure budgets are met.

Qualifications: Current School Board Director
Response: No response.

PATTY D. GAUGLER
Education: BS Elementary Education and Early Childhood Education
Occupation: self employed
Qualifications: 12 years experience on Whitehall Coplay School Board, LCTI board member, business owner, volunteer in the school district
Response: Funding is and always will be the most difficult issue facing school districts. We need to continue to balance the needs of the district with the fiscal responsibility to the community. We need to continue with our commitment to provide the best education to our children so they have the foundation needed after high school in the path of their choosing.

GEORGE MAKHOUL
Education: Whitehall High School; Moravian College
Occupation: Medical Device Sales
Qualifications: Proven leader, innovator, collaborator, problem solver, experienced school board member and executive team member Response: Supporting students and staff to close the gap from the lack of in-person learning caused by the pandemic. The lack of in-person education impacted students. The data has proven that, and we must work to rectify it. We must also work to keep our budget in line to keep tax increases low. Current methods of Cyber/Charter funding by the state hurts school funds/taxpayers.

FADY SALLOUM
Education: Associate Degree
Occupation: Realtor
Qualifications: Passionate, hardworking, helpful, and knowledgeable.
Response: My platform is all about being transparent and communicating with people to better understand their issues and work with them towards finding solutions based on logic, not on emotions. As many of you who know me or have reached out in the past, you know I am passionate about helping my community.

Republican

WILLIAM GROLLER
Education: 1979 graduate of Whitehall High School; B.A., Muhlenberg College; M.A., Penn State University
Occupation: Retired: U.S. Navy
Response: As an integral part of the community, Whitehall Coplay Schools must: (1) Provide an academically challenging but physically safe learning environment; (2) Provide parents with detailed information on what their children are being taught; (3) Operate within the financial means of tax payers to fund them; (4) Put all proposed school tax increases to a vote by residents

LORI ANN FEHNEL
Education: Some College
Occupation: Patient Service Rep.
Qualifications: I have been active in school board meetings since 2018.
Response: One of the biggest complaints is the tax hikes that have occurred and recently the school district eliminated bus stops with no warning to parents causing over crowding at a single bus stop creating unsafe bus stops. My plan is for an independent auditor to evaluate the reckless spending of tax payer dollars. I want to create a parental oversight safety committee.
